Orientation Week

In addition to the usual events of Orientation — meeting with advisors, attending meetings in Lee Chapel and Honor System seminars, freshmen were treated to an outdoor concert/cookout, a mocktail party, and an afternoon of wacky games on the front campus. Each event enabled the men and women of the class of '89 to get to know each other within different settings typical to W&L social life. On hand for many of the activities were numerous reporters from across the country trying to get a first-hand impression of W&L's transition to coeducation.

Homecoming

With alumni, students, parents, and faculty cheering and the band continuously playing, the Generals defeated the Maryville Scots 42-17 in the Homecoming game. At halftime, Professor Keith Shillington crowned Ellen Satterwhite, a junior at Mary Baldwin College, Homecoming Queen.

Superdance

AL DWS

Dancing to the music of the Maxx, Xenon, The White Animals, The Sparkplugs, Heinsohn & Day, Wildgrass, and WLUR, participants in this year's MDA Superdance raised $34,038. The thirty hour dance-a-thon was enhanced by slave auctions, pie throwing, and coveted prizes such as a Honda Civic and trips to St. Thomas, New York, Washington and Williamsburg.

Fancy Dress

Doremus Gym and Warner Center took on a carnival atmosphere for a Night in Rio. Entertainment included The Count Basie Orchestra, Junior Walker and the All Stars, The Skip Castro Band, The Charlotte Steel Symphonette, and Tim Eddy and his band. Special attractions such as the llama, fire eaters, and mime artists added splendor to the festival of bright lights and colors.

Rush

All CP

Though similar to the past, Rush '85 was unique in that W&L women participated in getting acquainted with the fraternities as well as in getting to know members of their own class. The fact that there were one hundred fewer men to choose from led to more innovative social calendars and sharpened rush techniques.

Parents' Weekend

WPH

Hundreds of parents were on hand to visit professors, listen to the President, and check out student life in Lexington over the weekend of November 1-3, 1985.

The Flood

Flooded houses, destroyed property, and drinking water shortages characterized the damage caused by The Flood of '85 which affected many W&L students in addition to numerous people in West Virginia and Virginia. Many W&L students and VMI cadets contributed manhours to the Flood Relief effort.

The World Around Us

Above: A Trans World Airlines jet with 145 passengers and eight crew members was hijacked in Athens, Greece, in June. The Shiite hijackers took the plane to Beirut, then to Algeria and then back to Beirut. Most of the hostages were released within days but the remaining 39 hostages were held for 17 days. One American hostage was killed. Right: The Kansas City Royals won the World Series. Royals pitcher Bret Saberhagen embraces third baseman George Brett after pitching a five-hitter to give the Royals the World Series crown over the St. Louis Cardinals. Saberhagen, the winner of two series games, was named as the Most Valuable Player in the series. (Copy within this section reprinted with permission of Wide World Photos, Inc. WP).

Cincinnati Reds player-manager Pete Rose broke Ty Cobb's career hit record in September. The historic #4,192 hit was a single to left field on a 2-1 pitch from San Diego Padres right hander Eric Show with one out in the bottom of the first inning.

President Reagan, with his wife Nancy, gives the A-Okay sign from his hospital window in July after undergoing surgery to remove a cancerous tumor from his lower intestine. The 74-year old president was back on the job within weeks after the operation.

The war in the Mid-East continued in 1985. A distraught Moslem man hugs his son moments after they survived a car bomb explosion outside a West Beirut restaurant in late August. They are shown being hurried away from the carnage by another man as cars burn in the rubble-strewn street.

All WP

A series of devastating earthquakes rumbled through Mexico City in September. Few in the metropolitan area of 18 million escaped the effects of the first quake, which registered 8.1 on the Richter scale; or the second quake, which measured 7.5.

Two eruptions on November 13 of the volcano Nevado del Ruiz in Columbia triggered avalanches of mud and water that engulfed 14 towns and villages, including Armero, which was buried. The volcano, which had been dormant for 400 years, spewed lava and debris that combined with melting snow and ice to form a river of destruction that crested at 50 feet.

In Geneva (Nov. '85) President Reagan and U.S.S.R. General Secretary Mikhail S. Gorbachev rest up for their first summit talks on regional and global issues, reportedly including theater and strategic nuclear arms control, terrorism, human rights, and support for wars in Afghanistan and Central America.

Riots were almost a daily occurrence in South Africa as blacks protested Apartheid. In this photo, a white man runs from a jeering group of stone-throwing blacks in downtown Johannesburg as widespread violence continued to break out throughout the country.

Actor Rock Hudson died after a battle with AIDS.

Orson Welles died of a heart attack.

Blue-collar troubadour Bruce Springsteen was the undisputed Boss of rock n'roll. His songs about Vietnam veterans, steelworkers and factory workers hit many responsive chords with all ages of Americans.

Terrorist attacks around the world were the focus of attention from late 1985 into early 1986. Above is a view of the Bar lounge after the terrorist attack at the International Terminal of Rome's Leonardo airport shortly after Christmas.

Chicago Bears Jim McMahon and kicker Kevin Butler celebrate on the sidelines at Super Bowl XX where they defeated the New England Patriots 46-10.

Philippine President Corazon Aquino addressed her nation, announcing in March she would reduce prices on gasoline and other petroleum products.

Exiled Philippine President Ferdinand Marcos addressed a group of family members and friends after leading them in prayer following a private Easter Sunday Mass at his Honolulu home.

Lee A. Iacocca, chairman of the Statue of Liberty-Ellis Island Foundation announced the 12 winners of the Medal of Liberty at a news conference in New York. The awards are given to naturalized American citizens who have made a substantial contribution to his or her chosen country.

Four Palestinian terrorists hijacked the Italian cruise liner Achille Lauro while on a Mediterranean cruise. One American was killed. After the ship was released the Egyptian government agreed to return the hijackers to the PLO. However, the hijackers were intercepted by American jets as they were flown out of Egypt and returned to Italy to stand trial.

In April U.S. warplanes struck 'the headquarters and terrorist facilities' of Libya's Moammar Khadafy. Reagan said the United States had direct, precise and irrefutable evidence that Khadafy had ordered recent Anti-American attacks, including the bombing of a discotheque in West Berlin.

Actors Lloyd Nolan and Yul Brynner both died following long bouts with cancer.

On January 28th the Space Shuttle Challenger exploded killing all seven crew members. The explosion was the first in-flight disaster in 56 manned U.S. space missions. Christa McAuliffe of New Hampshire was to be the first schoolteacher in space.

FOOTBALL

When you start the season with a 30-0 loss, you have nowhere to go but up.

The Washington and Lee football Generals followed that adage to its fullest extent in 1985, winning seven of its last eight games and tying for first place in the Old Dominion Athletic Conference.

The Generals rose to such heights on the wings of junior tailback Kevin Weaver, who rewrote the WSL football record books and led the nation in scoring, piling up an average of 13.8 points per game. Weaver's 145.1 yards per game average was also good enough for fourth in NCAA Division III.

The season became a game of can-you-top-this for both the team and its star running back. Game 1 was a disappointment for both team and player. Weaver missed the entire game due to a knee injury and the team was held scoreless by the Wasps of Emory and Henry, who later shared the conference crown with WSL. The Wasps scored 30 against the Generals, who were plagued by four turnovers during the afternoon.

Head coach Gary Fallon, who was looking to lead his troops to their sixth straight winning season, said he was not discouraged by the shutout. He cited the play of the WSL defense, who allowed only one touchdown (the rest coming via turnovers), as one of the bright spots. But the coach was in an even brighter mood when doctors okayed Weaver for WSL's next game, the home-opener against Centre.

The Generals proceeded to go on a tear that would give them decisive victories in their next six straight games. Against Centre, it was the defense standing tall to deny a Colonel touchdown in the waning seconds and preserve the 7-3 victory.

The first win started a trend that would run through the next five games. The contests' scripts must have come from the same writer as WSL time and again fell behind early and roared back to get the victory. "Roared" is an understatement. In five games WSL put 148 points on the board. Weaver scored 14 touchdowns in the five-game run.

The ODAC was set on its ear when on the first Saturday in October, the Generals knocked off pre-season conference favorite Randolph Macon, 31-19. The odds heading into the game weren't promising for WSL fans. Not only were the Generals 0-1 in the ODAC, they had only managed a touchdown in two games, not enough offense when you're facing a squad that's averaging 27 points per outing.

Weaver, classmate Jon Thornton and senior receiver Chris Bleggi lit up the scoreboard for WSL. Weaver rushed for two touchdowns, Thornton threw for two and Bleggi caught two in leading the Generals to the win that propelled the Generals back into contention for the conference lead. In addition to his two touchdowns, Weaver rushed for over 100 yards for the second straight time. His two-game performance put him atop the ODAC rushing statistics.

The scoring continued when WSL returned to Lexington for Homecoming Weekend to play Maryville. The Generals throttled the Scots of Maryville, 42-17, for a pleasant Homecoming victory. The Maryville game marked a clash between the conference's best passing offense and its best passing defense. WSL hauled in six interceptions. Thornton threw four touchdown passes (two each to Bleggi and senior Hugh Finkelstein) and Weaver added two more touchdowns to his growing total as the Generals scored 35 unanswered points in the second half.

In Game 5, Weaver and the Generals spoiled Hampden-Sydney's Homecoming Weekend with a 32-20 defeat of the Tigers. The W&L passing attack fell silent and so it was up to the junior tailback to take matters into his own hands. The Tigers didn't even have a chance to get the number of the truck that hit them. Weaver's 173 yards and — count 'em! — FIVE touchdowns led W&L to its fourth win in a row. The junior's scoring effort set a new school record. Weaver and the W&L defense, who stopped the Tigers twice in the final five minutes of the first half, had the ODAC talking and even some others talking about a possible bid to the Division III national tournament.

The Generals did little to end such talk when they spoiled another Homecoming, this one at the University of the South by a 36-20 count. Another record went by the wayside as Weaver rushed for 225 yards during the afternoon. For the fifth straight game, the Generals fell behind early as Sewanee took a 14-0 lead midway into the first period. But the defense again was tough when it had to be, shutting out the Tigers for the last 22 minutes of play, and Weaver scored four touchdowns and handed-off to Bleggi on a reverse for another to give W&L its fifth win of the season.

The General's final ODAC game could have been ugly, what with W&L leading the conference and its opponent, Bridgewater, bringing up the rear. But the weather smiled on the Eagles and prevented a massacre. Torrential rains poured throughout the afternoon and the Generals could only manage one touchdown (scored by guess who?). The defense earned the shutout, foiling the Eagles' greatest threat when senior Tim Janyaska picked off a pass.

The win propelled the Generals to No. 6 in Division III's South region, but the talk of a bid to the national tournament ceased when W&L faced defeat for the first time in two months at the hands of Pennsylvania's Ursinus College. Despite Weaver's seventh straight 100-yard performance, the Generals were upended by the Bears 26-23. A late rally that included a Thornton TD pass to junior Randy Brown and a Weaver touchdown came up short.

Not overly dismayed, the Generals and Weaver came back to Lexington with two goals: to beat Washington University and to get Kevin Weaver one more record, the school single-season rushing record. No sweat.

Saving their best stuff for the second half, Weaver and the Generals blew by the Bears with a 29-14 win and a 207-yard afternoon for the junior running back that put him once again in the W&L record book.

The Generals finished the season in a tie for first in the conference with Randolph-Macon and Emory and Henry. Weaver finished the season as the holder of four school records: single-game scoring, single-game rushing, single-season rushing, single-season scoring.

But the junior and some of his teammates weren't finished earning the honors. Weaver was named ODAC Player-of-the-Year and first team running back, while two other Generals, defensive back Janyska and sophomore offensive tackle John Packett, also were named to the first team.

Named to the ODAC's second team were seniors Bleggi (tight end), Finkelstein (wide receiver), Alex Castelli (defensive tackle) and John Sanders (offensive guard). Freshman Tom Skeen, who led the team in tackles, was named to the second team as a linebacker and a punter.

In the final ODAC statistics, Weaver led in rushing and scoring, Finkelstein was fourth in receiving, Skeen was second in punting, and Skeen and Janyska tied for fourth in interceptions. The team was third in team defense and second in rushing offense.

Weaver was also named the state's best college-level (NCAA Divisions II and III) football player by the Richmond Touchdown Club and was selected to the second team All-State (all divisions) by The Roanoke Times & World News, a fitting conclusion to a season that — for Weaver and the team — started down, but ended all the way up at the top.

WATER POLO

For the second year in a row, the Washington and Lee water polo Generals were stopped by one team all seasons: Richmond. The Spiders defeated W&L five times in 1985 — almost half of the Generals' losses for the season — to take the Southern League Championship.

But there were a goodly number of positive things for W&L polo. Head coach Page Remillard earned his 200th career coaching victory with a late-season win over George Washington, and the Generals' 19-14 record was the eighth straight winning season for water polo at W&L.

The season started in exclamation-point fashion with a 36-2 victory over Lynchburg at the W&L Fall Classic. After slipping against Johns Hopkins, the Generals fought their way back and earned a spot in the final against Richmond. The Spiders were too strong for W&L early in the season, winning 16-6.

The Generals began a series of road tournaments (W&L was only home for two weekends in 1985) with a trip to Providence, Rhode Island, where two of the best polo squads in the East, No. 17 Bucknell and No. 15 Iona, trounced the Generals. But W&L came back in the third game to defeat Army, 10-9.

The next weekend at the Virginia State Championships, W&L sailed into the finals with wins over Lynchburg and Virginia Commonwealth by a combined count of 53-10 only to be washed out in the final by Richmond, 13-4.

The W&L-Richmond rivalry/road relocated to the nation's capital for Round One of the Southern League Tournament. W&L won four games, defeating Lynchburg, George Washington, North Carolina — Wilmington and VCU by an average margin of 13, but lost the fifth contest of the weekend to the Spiders by a 13-7 score. But this meeting of W&L and Richmond was the closest of the year up to this point and head coach Remillard saw the changes as a result of the Generals forcing the action getting Spiders to play W&L's game.

The Richmond loss touched off a bad weekend for the Generals at the Southeast Varsity Invitational where WSL lost three of four games. Navy, Brown and Harvard handed out the defeats, while WSL did get a win against MIT. The Harvard loss was marred by what Remillard called "a lackadaisical attitude" in both players and coach. Said the coach: "The season hasn't panned out for them the way they thought it would, and they've gone into remission."

But the dormant period was ended quickly the following weekend when WSL repeated its Round One performance in Round Two of the Southern League by downing Lynchburg, George Washington, UNC-Wilmington and VCU but losing to Richmond. The fourth meeting was also the fourth time the two teams had met in the final day of a tournament.

The team got a big crowd and its best effort of the year for the following weekend's Southern League Championship, but the Spiders were still too tough, turning the Generals aside in the final in the closest meeting of the two teams all year. Reaching the final with three 20-goal efforts over James Madison, George Washington and VCU, WSL played the Spiders even for the first period-and-a-half but fell behind 8-5 at the half. WSL got no closer than two goals in the second half and lost for the second year in a row in the championship game, 11-8.

Senior co-captain Tim Stanford spoke for the team, saying, "We were bummed that we lost, but we played good polo. We were psyched with the turnout."

Being forced to coach itself as Remillard stayed in Lexington for the birth of his daughter, the Generals concluded the season with three losses — including the sixth to Richmond — at the Eastern Championships to finish as the eighth best team in the East.

Although senior co-captains Stanford and Lewis will be lost to graduation, a fine corps of underclassmen will make the loss easier to bear.

SOCCER

Beware of those regarded lightly.

The Washington and Lee soccer Generals were regarded lightly in the Old Dominion Athletic Conference to start the 1985 season, but by its conclusion, the young squad — only three seniors — had earned the respect of the conference as well as giving their opponents much to think about for 1986.

The Generals opened the season on a new home field, Smith Field, and showed their liking for the friendly confines by winning their first two contests. W&L recorded shutout victories over Shenandoah (7-0) and ODAC foe Eastern Mennonite (2-0) to give an early indication that youth would not be a handicap for the '85 Generals. Leading the youth movement was freshman Johnny Sarber, who tallied four goals in the two contests.

Three tough opponents, a lack of offensive output and injuries to three starters left the Generals at 2-3 midway into their season. The season's first loss came at the feet of Mary Washinton, a 3-0 shutout on Smith Field. The Blue Wave came to Lexington as the nation's 17th-ranked Division III team.

In loss No. 2, the Generals could muster only one goal, in a 4-1 defeat to eventual ODAC champion Lynchburg. Traditional Division III power Messiah handed W&L its third straight loss, a 1-0 squeaker at home that undoubtedly had the Generals thinking it might not be better to take a road trip.

Roadtrip was indeed the answer as W&L traveled to Tennessee and found a haven from defeat. Getting strong goaltending from sophomore Chris Gareis, the Generals shut out the University of the South and ODAC rival Maryville during their weekend in the Volunteer State. Five different players scored W&L's five goals in the two games: senior captain Billy Holmes, junior Corky Parkinson, sophomore Charles Lyle, freshmen Mike Veluona and classmate Sarber notched his fifth tally of the season.

W&L returned to Lexington and continued its winning way, coupled with its growing defensive prowess. The Generals turned away the cross-town rival Keydets, 3-0, to raise their record to 5-3. Sarber scored his sixth and Veliuona his second in four days to pace the W&L win. Gareis again was stubborn in goal, earning his fifth shutout of the season.

Game No. 9 marked the toughest loss of the year for W&L, a 2-1 double-overtime loss on the road to Gettysburg. Sarber was again the offensive punch for the Generals.

The season's final three games suffered offensively, as the Generals scored only once and lost twice, but the opposite was the case defensively as Chris Gareis added another shutout to his collection. W&L, courtesy a goal from junior Ken Randby, dumped Hampden-Sydney, 1-0, for its sixth and final win of the season.

The remaining two games saw W&L come up short against two strong opponents. Roanoke, battling Lynchburg for the first place in the ODAC, shutout the Generals 2-0. The Maroons eventually finished second in the conference. The Generals concluded their season with a 2-0 loss on the road to Liberty, a team that gave up only five goals in 16 games. A final game with Averett, a team that had earlier defeated Eastern Mennonite 1-0, was cancelled.

W&L ended the year at 6-6 and 3-2 in the ODAC, good enough for third place. Sarber led the team in scoring with seven goals and one assist. His scoring proficiency was third best in the conference. Netminder Gareis finished the year with a 1.2 goals against average, which was also third in the ODAC. Captain Holmes was named to the All-ODAC first team for the second year in a row.

WOMEN'S

CROSS

A 1-5 record may not seem all that significant at first glance, but then this 1-5 record is worth a second look.

The reason? That "1" in the win column was the first victory by the first women's team in the history of Washington and Lee, the women's cross country team.

Freshman Carolyn Arbogast paced the women's team, representing W&L in the NCAA Division III Southeast Regional meet.

No one said it would be easy, and the first season for women's sports at W&L had a rocky start. The women runners even had trouble getting uniforms to fit. Not only that, the team's first meet was against Division I Virginia Commonwealth.

Despite the early season losses, the women, led by Arbogast, steadily improved and on October 19, 1985, history was made.

Arbogast's third-place finish in a three-team meet with West Virginia Tech and West Virginia State that morning was the difference, placing W&L in second place as a team. The women, supported by seventh — and eighth-place finishes by freshmen Stephanie Smith and Kim Eadie, outplaced West Virginia State, 43-44, to earn their only win of the season.

Arbogast's continuing improvement was rewarded when she qualified for the Division III regional meet where she finished 41st, an impressive accomplishment, given W&L's fledgling status, but all the same, perhaps an indication of what the future holds for women's cross country at W&L.

COUNTRY

MEN'S

The one-two combination of senior Eddie Goundry and sophomore Scott Rippeon led the Washington and Lee men's cross country team in 1985, a season that saw rough weather, two coaching awards for long-time head coach Dick Miller, and another winning season — the seventh in a row — for W&L cross country.

Although the '85 harriers weren't able to match 1984's undefeated championship season, they were able to put together a solid 8-4 record and finish third in the Old Dominion Athletic Conference championships. That third place marked the sixth straight seasons W&L has finished fourth or better in the conference.

Rippeon was the season's individual standout, putting on a late-season surge and overcoming extremely hot and humid weather to qualify for the Division III national championships, where he finished 108th out of a field of 185.

The team started where it had left off in 1984 by winning its first four meets of the season to stretch its unbeaten string to 28, dating back to the beginning of the 1983 season. But eventual conference champion Roanoke defeated the Generals in an early-season meet at W&L. Minus key performers Goundry and junior Ash Andrews, W&L placed just one runner — Rippeon — in the top seven and finished 28 points behind the Maroons.

W&L encountered some unforgiving weather along the way, including a rain-plagued, four-team meet at Eastern Mennonite that Miller described as "probably one of the worst days I've ever encountered for running." The Generals finished third, losing to Lynchburg and Hampden-Sydney.

The following weekend the harriers raced for second place with Hampden-Sydney and Lynchburg while Roanoke waltzed off with the conference crown. The Generals claimed a third-place finish in the meet as just three points separated the three teams. Once again Goundry led the squad, finishing sixth. Rippeon, Andrews, freshman Michael Watson and senior Ron Moody and junior Ted Myers added the needed support to place the Generals one point ahead of rival Lynchburg.

At the Division III Southeast Regionals in Atlanta, Rippeon was the star, leading the team to a third-place finish at the meet and qualifying for nationals on a day that saw many runners drop out of the race due to the humidity and 80-degree temperatures. Rippeon, again showing he was not averse to less than ideal running conditions finished fifth in the meet.

Rippeon went back to Atlanta for the national championships where he was greeted once more by heat and humidity as temperatures climbed into the 70s, not ideal for running and certainly not expected for mid-November. But the sophomores wasn't slowed by the heat, actually dropping two minutes off his qualifying time on the same course. Rippeon was third among the qualifiers from his region and 108th overall.

The season was a successful one both the team and the coach. Miller's record as W&L cross country coach rose to 216-126-3 with 1985 marking his 23rd winning season in his 34-year career. W&L's dean of coaches was honored with two service awards, the Walt Cormack Award, for his service to track and field in Virginia, and the NCAA Coaches' Service Award for his 34 years of coaching cross country

SWIMMING

There's a regularity, a consistency to Washington and Lee swimming that makes winning seasons, national championships appearances and a few All-Americans seem like just another one for the books.

The 1985-86 season was proof positive of that rule, with a twist.

The twist came in the person of Elizabeth Miles, the distance swimmer on W&L first women's swim team who also happened to earn All-American honors in two events.

The swimmers gave an early indication of things to come, or, rather, stars to shine with their first meet of the season. Senior Tim Stanford qualified for the NCAA Division III national championships in his very first race when he won the 100-yard butterfly in the Generals' season-opener, a 68.43 win over VMI.

Following suit in the sneak preview of coming attractions was the three-member women's team who, despite losing 57-35 to Mary Baldwin, captured first places in five of the seven events it entered. Leading the way early and all season long for the women (who would not win a meet all season because of their insufficient number) was Miles, who met the national qualifying standard for the 500-yard freestyle in the women's second meet of the season.

The swimmers prepared for the second half of their season in traditional fashion by returning early from Christmas break to spend a few extra days in the water. The practice over break included a 10,000-yard swim on New Year's Eve.

The hard work paid off when the Generals resumed dual meet competition. After falling to Division I James Madison, the W&L men won a pair in a double dual meet with Frostburg State and Georgetown. The men got the win despite a number of injuries. Miles continued to shine for the women's team, taking two firsts and a second in her three races at the meet.

W&L got the wins by building early leads and hanging on through the final events, a strategy that also worked very nicely in the men's over Towson State, a 65-47 victory that saw the Generals get off to a 36-7 lead.

W&L split its final four meets as the season began to point to the conference and national championships. The back-to-back losses came at Shepherd in an upset and to Gettysburg in a meet that highlighted the talents of freshmen David Reavy and Moose Herring. Winners in the 200-yard breaststroke and the 500-yard freestyle, respectively. The season ending wins came in impressive fashion over Mary Washington, 66-8, and William and Mary, 70-36.

The host Generals finished second (men) and 10th (women) in the Tri-State championships. (The women's performance was good enough for fourth in the Old Dominion Athletic Conference championships, which were determined via the teams' performances in the Tri-State meet). Head coach Page Remillard called the meet "beyond our expectations and beyond our dreams" as six men qualified for the national championships in the three-day event. Stanford was phenomenal the entire weekend, setting meet and pool records in the 100-yard butterfly and a meet record in the 200-fly. Junior Jay ReVile qualified for nationals in three events at Tri-States, as well.

Miles captured a first and two seconds at the meet to lead the W&L women to a finish that had Remillard looking toward the future. Said the W&L mentor: "If we didn't finish last this year, we'll never finish last." He cited the performances of freshmen Nancy Whalen and Emily Bevil as crucial to that result.

The Generals sent seven swimmers to the national championships: Stanford, ReVile, Miles, Herring, junior Marty Radvany and freshman Matt Brady. Three — Stanford, ReVile and Miles — brought home All-American honors just like clockwork. Stanford continued his outstanding performances, finishing second in the 200-fly and third in the 200-fly.

All in all, it was another impressive finish for the Washington and Lee swimming program, a program that now includes successful women as well as successful men.

BASKETBALL

You should have known something was up when Washington and Lee head basketball coach Verne Canfield talked in hushed tones during the Generals' preseason, using phrases like "there are some good things happening that might not show initially."

You should have known that the conference coaches' poll that picked WSL to finish seventh of eight teams was going to serve more good than harm.

You should have know that despite all of this and the fact that his 1985-86 Generals had no seniors and only two players with any kind of past playing experience, Verne Canfield would produce nothing other than a winner.

You should have known all of these things and then the 1985-86 WSL basketball season would have been less surprising.

The Generals had their best year conference-wise since 1982 thanks to a late-season rush that took WSL all the way to the Old Dominion Athletic Conference tournament championship game.

The season started with the Thanksgiving break WSL Pizza Hut Tip-Off Tournament, which featured three strong teams, all coming off winning records. In the opener, the Generals nearly knocked off Salisbury

State, a top 10 team a year ago. Bouncing off the two-point, overtime loss to the Sea Gulls, WSL went out and controlled the consolation matchup with NAIA powerhouse Castleton St., winning 78-69.

The early stars — as they would be throughout the 1985-86 campaign — were junior forward Jeff Herralson, who averaged 15.3 points per game and sophomore guard Steve Hancock, who tossed in 15 a game. Hancock led the team with 27 points in Game 1, while Herralson paced the Generals' in Game 2 with 21. One or the other would be the leading scorer in 23 of the Generals' 27 games.

After an aberration loss at Emory, WSL stood the ODAC pollsters on their ears with a 65-57 defeat of Hampden-Sydney, the squad picked to finish first in the conference. The Generals were brought back to earth by one of the conference's hottest teams at the time, Lynchburg, with a 66-58 loss on the road, but came back to close out the fall term with wins over Greensboro and Cortland State.

Returning from Christmas break to host the WSL Invitational, the Generals kept the ball rolling by winning four of five games in the first two weeks of January. The only loss was in the championship game of the invitational, 67-66 defeat at the hands of Nazareth.

But the streak also included the season's biggest win, a 44-42 thriller over arch-rival Roanoke. In a game plagued by cold shooting, WSL led by a 19-4 count at half but fell behind by six before taking the lead for good in the final minute of play with a lay-in by Herralson off an excellent feed from playmaker Fred Bissinger.

The four wins in the streak put the Generals in first place in the conference, but the celebrating was cut short in a big way when the team fell under a five-game losing spell that included four conference games and two one-point losses. WSL was not helped any by injuries to Hancock (shoulder) and sophomore center Harmen Harden.

Hancock came back and eventually helped do away with the slump by hitting four free throws in the final minute to upend Lynchburg 58-56. The Generals followed that with their second defeat of Bridgewater.

But it was back into another tailspin as W&L lost two more in a row, including a 59-56 loss at Roanoke that put the Generals' chances for a home-court advantage in the upcoming ODAC tournament in jeopardy.

Needing wins in its final two conference games to get to play at home in the tourney's first round, the Generals, buoyed by the play of freshman forward Steve Sklenar, who had fully recovered from an early season leg injury, fought tooth and nail against Eastern Mennonite before downing the Maroons on an overtime basket by Sklenar. W&L then reminded Emory that its early-season win over the Eagles 73-37 in the return engagement, allowing them only nine points in the first half.

The home-court advantage was not to be, however, as a road contest with Maryville turned into a bad trip as the Scots handed W&L its second-worst defeat of the year, a 84-67 loss that closed the regular season and put the Generals in Lynchburg for the conference tournament's quarterfinal game.

Now, the Generals didn't have much going for them as the tournament began. W&L had not advanced past the quarterfinal since 1983, entered the tourney with a losing record and without freshman Lee Brading, who had been averaging nearly nine points a night but had come down with mononucleosis and would not be able to play for the rest of the season. Add to all of that the Generals' 1-8 road record and one would put their chances of advancing somewhere in the neighborhood of slim and none.

No matter. W&L went to Lynchburg for the quarterfinal and played the part of rude visitor by holding the Hornets to only 23 points in the second half in a 68-62 win to earn their way to the Salem Civic Center and a semifinal matchup with perennial pain-in-the-side Maryville.

Ignoring the 17-point defeat at the hands of the Scots a week earlier, the W&L cagers, led by Harrison's 22 points, played as if the conference semifinal was just another day at the office and subdued Maryville 59-56 to meet nemesis Roanoke in the final. The Maroons were on a tear of their own, dancing on Hampden-Sydney in the quarterfinal and defeating top seed Emory and Henry in the semifinal, and they did not stop against the Generals.

W&L could not get on track in the final and despite getting as close as two points by the half, were plagued by poor shooting (31.9 percent from the field) in the 68-53 defeat.

Canfield was pleased with the team's progress and sees next year as a possibility for more of the same. With everyone but student manager Dick Morris returning, the toughest challenge Canfield and his troops may face is finding someone to keep track of all the scoring.

WRESTLING

Quietly, but steadily, the Washington and Lee wrestlers had a great season in 1985-86, perhaps their best in at least a decade.

W&L sent two wrestlers — seniors Larry Anker and Win Phillips to the national championships, the first time that's happened to any General wrestler in 10 years. Along the way, Anker, Phillips and Co. won nine of 11 dual meets.

The 1985-86 campaign opened with the pre-exam, eight-team W&L Invitational where the untested Generals surprised themselves with a second-place finish. Anker took the crown at 142 lbs., while sophomore Kevin McNamara was first at 150. Senior co-captain Brian Lifsted (126 lbs.) added a second place to the Generals' team total, as did Phillips (167).

The dual-meet season got off to a raging start with a 35-13 defeat of Newport News Apprentice. After falling behind early, W&L bolted to an 18-2 mid-match spurt to assume control in the wrestlers' only meet before exams.

The Christmas break lay-off didn't bother W&L all that much as it came back to Lexington to win its next three contests against Loyola, Hampden-Sydney and Johns Hopkins. The Generals again shutdown their opponents, allowing them an average of seven points a match.

The season took a momentary step backward in a 43-12 loss to Division I Duke. The Blue Devils were the only team to dominate the Generals all season, winning the last six bouts of the match.

But the setback indeed was not prolonged as the next time out on the mat, W&L handled the Wildcats of Davidson by a 42-9 count. It was once more with feeling the following Wednesday when the grapplers destroyed Virginia State, 44-12. Anker and Phillips led the team in the Virginia State victory, each recording a technical fall (where the bout is stopped when one wrestler takes a 15-point lead). Between them the two already had accounted for 12 falls.

The team gave a strong indication of its prowess in the W&L Invitational when the Generals captured the team title on the strength of four first places, three seconds and two thirds. Phillips was named the tourney's Outstanding Wrestler with his win at 167, while Lifsted and freshman Mark Robertson and Rich Redfoot earned the three other W&L individual titles.

W&L took off on another streak to close the regular season, winning three of its final four matches. Anker and Phillips recorded two falls in the three General wins.

The regular season concluded on a down note with a 20-19 defeat at Washington and Jefferson. Anker, Redfoot, Robertson, sophomore Steve Castle and freshman George Loupassi turned in positive performances despite the loss, only the eighth in head coach Gary Franke's last four seasons.

Nine W&L wrestlers made the trip to regionals and three turned in exceptional performances. Phillips was the surprise of the tournament. Unseeded, he went on to take the title at 167. Both Castle and Anker took third places, but only Anker received one of the wild card bids to the national championships.

Anker and Phillips suffered a tough road at nationals. Anker, who set a new team record for takedowns with 80 during the season, was defeated by the eventual national champion in his first round bout, while Phillips injured his ribs and had to default his second round match to the eventual third-place finisher. All was not a loss, however, as Anker was named an Academic All-American.

The season was the last for Anker, Phillips and Lifsted, a group that had been a large part of the program's success (a 42-8-1 record) over the last four years. But with seven returning starters, the future looks bright for more quiet, steady success for WSL wrestling.

LACROSSE

The entire Washington and Lee lacrosse season — and perhaps the entire program — were typified on a sunny afternoon in Baltimore in May.

That day, W&L lost to a middle-of-the-road Division I program in the University of Maryland-Baltimore County. But it was the way that game went that paralleled the 1986 season. The Generals raced to a 5-2 lead against the Retrievers, playing what may have been their best half all season, but by the end of the third quarter W&L had been outscored 10-2 and went on to lose the game, 17-8.

The scoring run and the Division I mismatch were typical of the Generals' 1986 season, a season that started with hope of getting the Division I-Division III monkey off their backs but in the end only served as more fuel for the debate that was resolved with the Board of Trustees' decision to reclassify lacrosse as a Division III sport.

But at the start of the season and through the first five games the talk was of a bid to the Division I national tournament and not of relegation. After a tough, one-goal loss at Duke — a team that just missed a bid to the national tournament — to open the season, the Generals came home with guns a-blazing' in a 28-1 pistolwhipping of Virginia Tech.

The 28-1 count marked a school record for number of goals scored and was a showcase for W&L's offensive talent. Senior attackman G.T. Corrigan scored a hat trick in the first period as W&L bolted to a 7-0 lead against the outclassed Hokies.

Dartmouth was the next victim on the Generals' early-season run. The 17-12 victory was important for the team as a confidence-building win over a "name" opponent. It was this week that junior goalie John Church emerged as a force, stopping 22 Dartmouth shots and earning the game's Defensive MVP honors from his teammates.

With a 2-1 record the team confidently made its way to Charlottesville for the annual brouhaha with the Wahoos. And not only did the Generals think and act confidently, they played confidently . . . for about three quarters. Then, the dam broke and the Cavaliers let loose for eight unanswered goals to hand W&L a 16-6 defeat.

"I think what happened was that we made one or two mental mistakes that allowed them to get a goal," said head coach Dennis Daly, and then, he continued, "rather than just trying to keep the game close, we went for the win. By going for the win, it built up to 13 and 14 and we missed some opportunities, but that happens."

The Generals came back from the emotional drain of the U. Va. loss just in time to put a fourth-quarter surge together and defeat an upstart Notre Dame squad. Senior tri-captain Bill Holmes' four goals paced the WSL effort.

The Notre Dame win set the stage for a crucial test of where WSL was in the Division I scheme of things. The following Saturday the Generals faced Division I top tenner Towson State and the fourth quarter went to Towson State as the fourth quarter the week before had gone to the Wahoos.

WSL fell behind but tied the game at nine early in the final period, only to have Towson regain control and score the game's last three goals to win 12-9.

The team went into the spring break on a positive note with a 20-2 destruction of cross-town lacrosse neophytes VMI that raised the Generals' record to 4-3. But the curtain more or less came down on any tournament hopes and really any hopes for a winning season with a 26-2 disaster at Cornell in the middle of spring break.

The Big Red jumped out to an 18-0 first-half lead and scored on nine of their first 11 shots, leaving WSL wishing they had stayed in Lexington for the break. The defeat was the worst in WSL lacrosse history, and may have had a lasting impact on the team for the remainder of the season.

After an easy 21-2 victory over Radford — the third time the Generals had scored over 20 goals and the third time they had won by at least 18 goals — the wheels came off to the 1986 season as WSL lost its last four games.

With a 5-4 record after the Radford win, Daly and his troops felt a winning season — the first since 1982 — was certainly within reach, given that two of the final four opponents were Division III and the other two were not in Division I's top 10.

But it was not to be, the big demoralizing blow coming in Game 10, a back-and-forth affair with Division III's second-ranked squad, Washington College. At game's end, the Generals had come up just one goal shy of the Shoremen.

It was another loss whose effects went beyond the 60 minutes of play as five days later the Generals traveled to Roanoke and were upset by the Division III Maroons 17-14. The game started harmlessly enough with WSL taking an early lead, but the second quarter saw a 10-goal run by eighth-ranked Roanoke from which the Generals never fully recovered. Senior Cauley Deringer scored five times — giving him eight in the last two games — and the front line of Deringer, Corrigan and Holmes had 18 points between them in the losing cause.

The season concluded with back-to-back similar losses to Loyola and UMBC. In both games big scoring runs took the Generals out of the game. Loyola scored 14 times before the Generals' first tally and UMBC ran off 16 of the game's last 19 scores to give WSL its fourth straight losing season, the first such slump for WSL lacrosse in 22 years.

It was a season that was all it shouldn't have been — losing to almost every first-rate Division I program, losing to every Division III foe on the schedule, being outscored 119-67 by the first-rate Division I opponents, winning only once after exams — the defensive play of senior captain and North-South selection Chris John, the three quarters against U. Va, that scared the you-know-what out of the Wahoos, the comebacks against Duke, Towson State, Washington College and Roanoke that fell just short, the fourth quarter against Notre Dame, the goaltending of Church.

But given the Board of Trustees' decision and the fact that two of the closest games of the year were with Division III opponents, the future may hold some championship play for Washington and Lee lacrosse.

BASEBALL

At the beginning of the season, the outlook was not good for the 1986 Washington and Lee baseball team. The team's pre-season trip to Florida set the tone for the rest of the campaign. In the Generals' four games they were slaughtered once, came close twice and put it all together once, more or less mirroring W&L's 7-14-1 season. But the biggest loss of the trip may have been the dismissal of senior Hugh Finkelstein. Finkelstein was the team's leading hitter in 1985, batting .440 despite a nagging knee injury. His bat would be missed as the season wore on.

The regular season opened with a sort-of-split doubleheader against West Virginia Tech. W&L lost the first but came back for a rare tie in the second game, which was called because of darkness.

Head coach Jim Murdock called for more hitting and scoring if his team was to win games. Hitting, scoring and winning all made an appearance in one of the Generals' next five games, a 10-4 thumping of Eastern Mennonite, to answer Murdock's request. Unfortunately, it was absent in Games 3, 4, 6 and 7.

After getting 15 hits in the Menonite win, W&L could only muster a total of 21 hits and five runs in the four losses. Three of the defeats came at the hands of Old Dominion Athletic Conference foes.

W&L then put on the hit parade for one more show, exploding for nine runs in the first game of a doubleheader with Hampden-Sydney. Sophomore outfielder Carter Steuart went four-for-five and scored four times, junior catcher Bill Curtiss hit a two-run homer and drove in four runs and junior Milam Turner — who led the team at season's end in average, RBI, doubles and slugging percentage — drove in three to give the Generals' their second win against five defeats.

But again, it was only a brief appearance for W&L hitting, as the second game went to the Tigers 3-0.

The ODAC's second-place team, Lynchburg, was next up for the Generals, and the Hornets stung W&L by a 21-6 count.

The crushing defeat must have done some good, however, as the Generals swept a doubleheader with Emory and Henry in their next outing. The sweep moved W&L into fourth place in the topsy-turvy ODAC standings. A fourth-place finish in the regular season would give the Generals home-field advantage in the tournament, fifth place and they would be on the road.

The chance at a home-field advantage disappeared shortly after exams, when W&L dropped three of five ODAC games.

After losing to non-conference foe VMI in the ninth inning to end their winter term schedule, the Generals resumed conference play the Monday after exams with two tough games against the Nos. 2 and 1 teams in the ODAC, Lynchburg and Bridgewater. W&L played both foes even-up scorewise, losing 7-6 to Lynchburg and 6-4 to Bridgewater, but nine W&L errors in the two games slowed down the upset-minded Generals.

W&L swept another doubleheader with Maryville — the first time a Murdock-coached team has swept two twinbills in a season. Steuart and junior Bill Schoettelkotte were big with the bat while Eric Acra stood tall on the mound in Game 1's 4-3 victory, while Schoettelkotte switched gloves to pitch a shutout in Game 2, a 3-0 win. Turner and freshman shortstop Harry Halpert had the hits in the second contest.

But again the Generals could not keep the ball rolling, losing three days later to Eastern Mennonite, 7-6, and virtually ending their shot at the home-field advantage. WSL stranded 15 baserunners in the disappointing defeat.

After losing two of three non-conference games — including a "Ma, the wind was really blowing out" 28-17 loss to VMI — the Generals moved into the conference tournament where they faced Hampden-Sydney, a team they had split a doubleheader with earlier in the season.

As justice would have it, WSL saved its best effort for its final eight innings. Holding the Tigers to one run for most of the game, WSL had a fine defensive effort and got good pitching from Schoettelkotte, who led the team in strikeouts in 1986, recording 58. Unfortunately, the ninth inning came and with it a three-run explosion that gave the Tigers the game. Needless to say, the 15 men WSL left on base didn't make the loss any easier to take.

So, the season ended as it begun, with a loss, a loss at the hands of perhaps the Generals' toughest opponent all season, themselves.

GOLF

With four starters returning to the 1986 Washington and Lee golf team, head coach Buck Leslie was pleased with what he had and with what the future held. He would be rewarded with success but he would have to wait just a little while for it.

Despite the numbers, however, success was not immediate for the WSL linksters, but it did come. The season started with sophomore Gary Campbell's team-leading low rounds at the James Madison Invitational where the Generals were able to finish 11th out of 24 teams in the primarily Division I tournament. Campbell had a two-day total of 156.

The following week the golfers had a pair of off days. Unfortunately, they were at the same tournament. The 22nd-place performance at the Max Ward Invitational in North Carolina arose largely as a result of a lack of experience on the tourney's course. The first day figures — a team total of 445 for an average individual round of 89 — were enough to knock the team out of contention.

The less than adequate performances were through, however, after that trip to North Carolina. WSL rebounded a week later by downing Bridgewater and Longwood at the Lexington Country Club by having one of the best days a Buck Leslie team has ever had. The 307 total was 15 strokes better than Longwood and 20 strokes better Bridgewater, and averaged out to a 76 for each man. Senior captain Greg Wheeler posted the team's low score for the afternoon with a 73.

After exams it was off to the Georgetown Hoya Open, the first tournament since the North Carolina disaster. WSL showed the past was a fluke by tying ODAC rival Randolph-Macon for second. Only Division I George Washington was better than the Generals. Sophomore John Gammage paced the Generals with a two-day total of 158.

The Generals recorded two more wins to conclude their dual-match schedule at 4-0. The victories over Shenandoah (by 36 strokes) and Bridgewater (by two strokes) gave Buck Leslie his 12th straight winning season and his fourth untarnished mark in the last six years.

The stage was set for the Old Dominion Athletic Conference championships. The Generals nearly stole the show with a conference-low second round of 318, but a superb second round from ODAC Player-of-the-Year Sam Wallace gave the Tigers the title by just three strokes. Two Generals — one expected and one not — earned all-conference honors: Wheeler (a two-day total of 156) and senior Jeff Kimbell (162).

Wheeler was rewarded for his consistent performances in 1986 by being invited to the national championships where he became the fifth golfer to participate in the

The 1986 Washington and Lee track and field team didn't improve on its 1985 campaign, but then that wasn't so bad, seeing how its predecessor was conference indoor champion and runner-up for the conference outdoor title.

The thinclads went "once more with feeling" in 1986, claiming their third straight Old Dominion Athletic Conference indoor title on the last day of February. At the meet, the Generals outdistanced perennial nemesis Lynchburg by 25 points on the strength of seven first places in the 14-event championship. Senior sprinter Chris Bleggi was named Runner-of-the-Year and head coach Norris Aldridge was Coach-of-the-Year at the Generals' indoor season triumph.

Leading the team along with Bleggi were a number of other individuals that would pace the team in its outdoor season, as well. Those included junior Tom Murray in the shot put, junior John Burlingame in the long jump and sophomore Andy White in the 55-meter hurdles.

The indoor season was an indication, as well as an excellent warm-up, for the outdoor season, which started two weeks after the indoor championship. And start it did, in impressive fashion.

Coming off back-to-back undefeated seasons, the outdoor team had a number of tough acts to follow. But never mind the past, the track-men proceeded to pick up the outdoor season where the indoor left off, beating all three opponents at a quadrangular meet at Davidson. The Generals dominated the hosts 105-34, downed Barber-Scotia 95-38 and outpointed the College of Wooster 71-68.

Senior tri-captains Bleggi, Chris McGowan (400 meters) and Jim McLaughlin (discus) led the WSL effort.

The same thing happened three days later at an ODAC quadrangular that gave WSL three more wins. WSL's 88-point performance was too much for Roanoke (58), Bridgewater (39) and Eastern Mennonite (0). WSL athletes won 12 of the 17 events contested.

Next up for the Generals was the Liberty Invitational, a chance for WSL's individuals to shine. Taking up the challenge was senior McLaughlin, who cranked out the longest discus throw in WSL history with his 148-6 throw at the meet.

The Generals concluded their dual meet season with two more wins at home in a tri-meet against Newport News Apprentice and Eastern Mennonite. Of the 17 events, WSL captured first place in 13 of them and took either a second or a third in the remaining four events.

In preparation for the upcoming conference championships, the Generals participated in three invitationals in four weekends. Turning in solid performances during the invitationals were McLaughlin and Murray in the throws, White in the hurdles, junior John Carder in the pole vault, and the 400, 800 and mile relay.

Injuries raised their ugly head as the conference meet approached (much as they did at the 1985 outdoor championships). The injuries combined with an outstanding performance from Lynchburg added up to a disappointment at the conference championships.

Overshadowing the second-place finish in the team standings, however, were five firsts by General runners. Bleggi had a terrific meet, winning the 100 and 200 meters and anchoring the winning 400-meter relay team, and just a step behind was White in the hurdles, taking top honors in the 110-meter and 400-meter events. Junior Matt Steilberg took first place in the pole vault.

The team will lose the very valuable services of a number of seniors, including Bleggi, McGowan, McLaughlin, high jumper Townes Pressler, middle distance runner Conrad Boyle and distance man Ron Moody, but with a strong corps of proven athletes and still more waiting in the wings, the future looks just as bright as the past for WSL track and field.

MEN'S TENNIS

Forget about the first women's class. The big story in 1985-86 was the Washington and Lee men's tennis team, a group that advanced all the way to national team championship finals, the highest finish ever for a Washington and Lee team.

The Generals were coming off a fine 1985 season (conference champions, team bid to the national championships and three All-Americans) and were forecast to do well again in 1986 as five starters and highly touted freshman in Bobby Matthews returned to pick up where the '85 team had left off.

Ranked sixth in the nation by the preseason coaches' poll, the netters faced a tough schedule that included 13 Division I opponents. And indeed, things started as tough as they looked with WSL losing its first three outings — all to Division I opponents.

Things changed dramatically with match No. 4, a 5-4 defeat of William and Mary. The Generals shocked the Tribe by taking two of the three doubles contests. Sophomore No. 5 Jack Messerly won a crucial three setter, and the doubles teams of sophomore Chris Wiman, senior Scott Adams and Matthews, junior Roby Mize clinched the victory. Matthews and Mize went on to dominate the No. 2 doubles position all year long, winning their next 26 of their last 27 matches.

The Generals dove into their Division III schedule in a big way, downing Old Dominion Athletic Conference foe Hampden-Sydney as part of a 10-match pre-exam run that saw WSL knock off five Division III opponents, one Division II team and two Division I squads.

Included in the stretch was a weekend set with Claremont-Mudd-Scripps and Swarthmore, two of Division III's top-ranked teams. The Generals needed a big weekend and got one, crushing No. 7-ranked Claremont 8-1 and giving the third-ranked Little Quakers more than they bargained for before falling 6-3. Mize, Matthews and Wiman recorded big wins in the Claremont win, while Swarthmore escaped with the win by taking four of the six matches that reached the ultimate set. The strong weekend

Mason and Radford matches, the Wahoos of U.Va. were quite the surprised bunch when WSL went the distance before being beaten. Mize, Adams, Wiman and Mize-Matthew came up with wins, and only a three-set defeat at No. 3 doubles foils the upset bid.

Before the Generals moved into their national championships mode, they had the matter of defending their 1985 ODAC championship to wrap up. Making handy work of the seven other teams, WSL won its second straight conference crown and its third in the last four years by sweeping eight of the nine singles and doubles flights. Mize, Matthews, Messerly, Wiman, and Adams win singles crowns, while Messerly and sophomore David McLeod, Mize-Matthews and Wiman-Adams claim doubles championships. WSL individual champions did not lose a set — a total of 48 sets in a row — in earning their titles.

At nationals, the Generals surprised everyone but themselves by advancing to the final match of the team championships before losing to top-seeded Kalamazoo. The second-place is the highest for a WSL team since the team tournament format began in 1983 and the highest of any kind since 1978.

Along the way to the championship match, the fourth-seeded Generals knocked off eighth-ranked Washington University, and upset Whitman, the tournament's second seed, who was previously unbeaten in Division III. Matthews (23-6 overall) and Messerly (24-4) go unbeaten in the tournament as does the Mize-Matthews doubles team (26-4), who defeats the Kalamazoo No. 2 doubles team of Alex Palladino-Jim Burda, the eventual national doubles champions.

It could be "Once more with feeling" in 1987 as once again the Generals return five starters and have some good recruits on the way.

firmly entrenched WSL as one of the top eight teams in the nation.

The following weekend fifth-ranked WSL locked itself into a sure tournament bid with a 5-4 win over the sixth-ranked Shoremen of Washington College. Mize, Matthews, Messerly, and Adams post singles wins in leading the WSL effort.

After thrashing Virginia Military by a 9-0 count and taking exams, the Generals embark on their annual trip to Florida for five matches in the sun. The 1986 southern swing proved to be WSL's best since 1980 as the netters took three of the five contests, downing Division I Stetson, Central Florida and the Florida Institute of Technology. The two losses on the trip were to Division II's second-ranked Tars of Rollins and NAIA's seventh-ranked Saints of Flagler. WSL loses only two games in the Central Florida match and nearly upsets Rollins, losing three three-setters that could have changed the outcome of the match.

Back home in Lexington, the Generals' continue to win over Division I teams, defeating George Mason and Radford by a combined total score of 17-1. The Radford win marks the seventh shutoff of the season for the Generals. In between the George

WOMEN'S TENNIS

Things are tough for a first-year team, just ask the Washington and Lee women's tennis players. But ask those same players if "tough" means "discouraging," and you can bet you'll get a flat out "No!"

Facing some tough competition, including one of the nation's best Division III teams in Old Dominion Athletic Conference champion Emory and Henry, the lady netters finished the year at 3-8 and took ninth in the 10-team conference championships.

The season opened less than auspiciously with two losses to Sweet Briar and Roanoke by 9-0 and 8-1 scores. But the team bounced back with wins over Randolph-Macon (Ashland) and Southern Seminary in its next two matches.

The Randolph-Macon win was the team's best match of the year, a 5-4 decision that wasn't decided until the last match was completed. Freshmen singles players Courtney Coyle, Dana Anstine, Martha Christian and Benny Savage recorded wins, while the No. 2 doubles team of Christian and freshman Valerie Pierson clinched the match victory with a 6-3, 7-5 win.

The team's early leader was Coyle, who won her first six matches.

WSL finished off the winter term with five straight losses to ODAC foes, but a spring break trip to Hilton Head geared the women up for the conference championships. After splitting its final two regular season matches to set its record at 3-8, the week of intense training finally manifested itself, as the women finished ninth, ahead of Roanoke who had defeated them 8-1 earlier in the year.

With everyone on the team returning for next year, the team has plenty of room for improvement, and as Savage puts it, "We are just starting."

Best Products, one of the nation's largest discount retailers, is headquartered in Richmond, Va. Founded in 1957, it is now the largest retailer based in Virginia, with 18,000 employees nationwide and 1984 sales of $2.25 billion. Best operates a coast-to-coast chain of 213 catalog showrooms under the Best, Dolgin's, Great Western, Jafco and LaBelle's names. Ashby's, a chain of women's apparel stores, and Best Jewelry, a chain of fine jewelry and giftware stores, are also part of Best.

Through a yearly catalog, the company sells jewelry and nationally advertised brand name merchandise in the housewares, sporting goods, toys, cameras and electronics, giftware and seasonal categories. Best will spend $100 million over the next three years to remodel more than half of its catalog showrooms.

Our Final Comments . . . to those deserving thanks

As you finish looking through your 1986 Calyx, we hope you have enjoyed seeing what we believe to be a thorough representation of life in Big Lex, as well as the world that surrounded us this past year. There are many people who deserve credit and thanks for making your '86 Calyx a reality. To name a few, the Commerce School staff (picture below) really saved our lives (not to mention your book) the week after graduation when the power was cut off in the University Center, by providing us a room and access to it, so that we could finish the book. We'll never forget the all-nighters in room 121, and calling on Security Guard Steve Tomlinson (and his flashlight) so we could rummage through a dark building and office during the evenings. Our photographers, Patrick Hinley (WPH), David Sprunt (DWS), Cotton Puryear (CP), Steve Sadler (SS), Matt Horridge (MH), Perry Hayes (PSH), and Scott Farrell (SJF), deserve lots of credit and thanks. Others who helped in completing the Calyx, and also making our last week in Lexington an enjoyable and successful one are: Dean Atwood, Ms. Zeigler, Ms. Mohler, Carol Calkins, Carolyne Mayo, David Sprunt, Mike Allen, Charlie Garrison, Mark Mandel, McClain Stradtner, Dean John, Dean Huntley, Dean Murphy, Katie Goodman, the Admissions Staff, Frank Parsons, Professor Dean, Pat Larew, Dr. Turner, Mrs. Atkins, Mrs. Lowery, John Nusbaum, and Professor McCaughrin. We are also grateful to the many contributors from our staff, patrons, and benefactors, and hope they will continue their generous support of the Calyx. Best of luck to this year's graduates in all their future endeavors, and best wishes to our very own class of '87 for a successful senior year.
